Juarez.

The French have reached Chihuahua and President Juarez and his Staff were in El Paso, at the latest dates we had from that section.

In the statement we made a couple of weeks since in regard to Juarez going to New York, we were mistaken. We understood that it is his intention to remain in Mexico as long as he can hold a place large enough to keep up the forms of a government in, so that if favorable events he should be smiled upon by fortune and his cause, which is the cause of Mexico, acquires more strength, he will be upon the soir and ready to do all that may be in his power to reestablish the Republic in his unfortunate country.

It seems now to be a well established fact that the Mexican people themselves cannot withstand the power of the French.

We are not prepared to say that the United States should precipitate a war with France for the purpose of aiding Mexico. In the Present condition of things that might not be prudent. But we do think that they should not be too strict in their neutrality, and that they should not prevent those people who wish to emigrate to Mexico, for whatever purpose, from doing so. The Mexican form of government assimilates more to ours than that of Maximilian and it is the one which we should endeavor to have maintained.

If there cannot be a great sisterhood of Republics on this continent there should be one magnificent one, and that one should be formed by the aggregation of others to the United States, and this can never be done whilst an Empire with Maximilian or any other Emperor at its head, is maintained in Mexico.—Santa Fe Gazette,

A hailstorm in the vicinity of Mount Sterling, Wisconsin, has just destroyed thirty thousand dollars worth of crops. Hailstones, or rather rocks of ice, were seen, which measured six or eight inches in circumference.

THE Huntsville Advocate states that the crops in North Alabama, from all accounts, have been cut short by the severe drought which has prevailed generally during the summer. Corn will be scarce, and in many localities high.
